

It is ineffective and rude for members of the banking institution to be able to make unwanted calls to my home. The bulk of calls that we used to receive were from these same institutions, as they are selling mortgages, credit cards, and the like. I do not want these people to call me - it is not their alienable right to do so.